

Lake Worth Playhouse keeps productions moving at perfect pace

Rehearsals for "Once Upon a Holiday," a weekend performance at the Lake Worth Playhouse, kept performers on their toes for weeks. The production, directed by Lisa Bankert, features 50-year-old classic holiday songs and, in what is becoming a playhouse tradition, performers urged the audience to join in. Shy people will have plenty of chances. "Thoroughly Modern Millie" kicks off the new season Jan. 18, 2008.

The playhouse is at 713 Lake Ave. in Lake Worth. For information about the season's schedule, visit www.lakeworthplayhouse.org or call 561-586-6169.
